Notification of Abstract Acceptance: 9th May 2024

Conference Date: 4th – 7th September 2024

II. Guidelines for Submission

Title:
Your abstract should have a concise and descriptive title that reflects the content of your research. The title must not exceed 20 words.

Authors and Affiliations:
Include the names of all authors and their affiliations (institution, department, city, country) below the abstract.

Abstract:
Abstracts need to be informative and serve as a comprehensive scientific reference even for readers who did not attend the conference. They should succinctly outline the basic approach (including the problem and hypothesis), methodological framework, key findings, and conclude with final remarks. The abstract should not exceed approximately 250 words excluding spaces.

Abstracts should be written in English, including oral presentations and posters.

Following the introduction (which does not have its own subheading), the subsequent sections—, Methods, Results, and Conclusions—should be presented in separate paragraphs.

Abbreviations of materials or other measured quantities which are of major importance to the abstract's content, or abbreviations which are familiar to few experts only, must be explained.

Keywords should not exceed approximately 5 words, separated by semicolons.

Submitted abstracts will undergo a single-blind peer review process, where the reviewers are aware of the authors' identities, but authors remain unaware of the reviewers'. The chairperson will assess each submission based on reviewer's recommendation for its acceptance into the conference.

Authors will be promptly notified about the status of their submissions. Should revisions be necessary or if a submission cannot be accepted, authors will receive detailed feedback. Accepted short contributions will be honored with publication in the conference proceedings, allowing your work to be shared with peers and attendees.

Permission of Publication:
By submitting an abstract, authors grant permission for the abstract to be published in the conference proceedings.

Approval of Author(s):
Ensure that all authors have read and approved the final version of the abstract before submission.

Process of Abstract Submission:
Abstract submission will be facilitated solely through the Oxford Abstract System. Authors must register as an author via https://app.oxfordabstracts.com and carefully follow the provided instructions for inputting author details and abstract content. Submit your abstract via the conference's online submission portal https://ppij.org/ICONIC2024SubmissionPortal before the deadline. Ensure that all guidelines are followed to facilitate the review process.

It is important to note that in the online portal, author information and affiliations must be entered separately from the abstract text (title, body). Abstract text can be directly inputted into the online form or transferred from Word and other text programs using the "Copy&Paste" function.
